CGI Crew Management solution

CGI's Crew Management solution is a powerful new tool that helps Media and Entertainment companies organize their personnel rosters for sports and live events coverage. While other solutions exist for equipment scheduling and logistics, the human resources element is often overlooked, potentially leading to production problems, costly budget overruns, and other issues.

CGI's Crew Management tool provides detailed budgeting, planning, and forecasting for all events from small-scale one-offs to major world broadcasting events to global touring level multi-week events. It covers all human aspects of a project from hiring, onboarding, registering, access, and authorizations, to overseeing timekeeping and payroll, while also managing hotel room allocations, tracking airline travel schedules, and more.

Self-service online registration reduces the organizational overhead for Media & Entertainment companies, while detailed dashboards provide real-time status tracking, analytical reports and more, providing 100% visibility of cash flow and crew expenditure at all points of the process.

Featuring tight integration with numerous third-party scheduling and vendor applications, CGI's Crew Management solution provides the detailed, cost-effective insight media companies need into the human resources component of mounting successful sports and live events broadcasting.
